Pavlo Romaniv

has participated and successfully contributed to the Baltic University Programme Teachers' Conference on

Sustainable Tourism for Development

19 - 22 March, 2017, Zhovka, Ukraine

The conference is organised by Ivan Franko National University of Lviv, Ukraine, Baltic University Programme centre in Ukraine and BUP co-ordinating secretariat in Uppsala, Sweden; and WSB University in Poznan, Poland.

The conference provided an overview of tourism in connection to UN's Sustainable Development Goals, contribution of the tourism sector to the three pillars of sustainability, as well as results from research and practice from Europe on sustainable tourism. The topics of transboundary tourism, its main tendencies, and perspectives of sustainable development for local tourism were covered during the presentations. The teachers also updated their knowledge and deepened their understanding of Massive Open Online Courses (MOOC) and Blended Learning.
